Investigation and Medical Examinations

5. (1) The provincial authority shall, in respect of each application, cause an investigation to be made into the facts and circumstances as therein set out, and such investigation shall include a report respecting the physical activities that the applicant is able to perform without assistance and such other matters as may be necessary to determine the eligibility of the applicant for an allowance.

(2) The investigation required by subsection (1) shall be made not sooner than four months before the date of the proposed commencement of the allowance, but where the person making the application is resident in a part of Canada that is accessible only at a certain time or times of the year the period of four months may be extended by the provincial authority to not more than six months.

(3) Where an investigation required by subsection (1) discloses that the applicant, subject to proof of blindness, is eligible for an allowance, the provincial authority shall

- (a) forward to the Minister the full name and address of the applicant,
- (b) certify to him that the applicant has fulfilled the conditions set out in subparagraphs (ii) and (iii) of paragraph (a) and paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (2) of section 3 of the Act, and
- (c) furnish to the Minister a copy of the portion of the investigation report dealing with the physical activities that the applicant is able to perform without assistance.

6. (1) When the information required under section 5 is forwarded to the Minister, the provincial authority shall arrange with an oculist who has been approved by the Minister for the examination of the applicant and shall notify the applicant accordingly, and, prior to the examination, the provincial authority shall forward to the oculist a copy of the portion of the investigation report dealing with the physical activities that the applicant is able to perform without assistance; the expenses of such examination other than the cost of transportation and living expenses of the applicant incidental to such examination, may be paid out of moneys appropriated therefor by Parliament.

(2) The oculist shall conduct an examination as required by these regulations and in accordance with any instructions given by the Minister to whom he shall forward a report thereof on forms provided for that purpose.

(3) Upon receiving the report mentioned in subsection (2), the Minister shall issue a certificate stating, inter alia,

- (a) whether or not the applicant is blind within the meaning of the Act and these regulations;
- (b) whether or not the applicant is likely to continue to be blind within the meaning of the Act and these regulations; and
- (c) the times at or before which additional medical examinations, if any, should be made to ascertain that the applicant continues to be blind within the meaning of the Act and these regulations, and forward this certificate to the provincial authority.

7. Where the Minister has received satisfactory information that the applicant is blind within the meaning of the Act and these regulations, he may dispense with the examination required by section 6 and forthwith issue the certificate as provided by subsection (3) thereof.

8. The Minister may, at any time, require an applicant or recipient to report for medical examination and to furnish such information as he or the provincial authority may from time to time require.

9. (1) Where an application has been approved and the allowance is being paid or is suspended for the purpose of recovering an overpayment, the provincial authority shall, at least once in each year, cause an investigation to be made into the circumstances of the recipient to determine whether such recipient continues to be eligible, or whether he has again become eligible, and the amount of allowance to which he may be entitled, and where such annual investigation is made more than three months prior to the transfer of the recipient to old age security, the provincial authority shall make a terminal investigation at the time of such transfer; the report of the investigator shall include a description of the physical activities that such recipient is able to perform without assistance at that time and, except in the case of a terminal investigation, a copy of the report or the portion that deals with the physical activities that the recipient is able to perform without assistance shall be forwarded to the Minister.

(2) Before altering the rate of allowance being paid to a recipient or before suspending an allowance or reinstating an allowance which has been suspended, the provincial authority shall cause an investigation to be made into the circumstances of the recipient; but the provincial authority, in any individual case, may, in lieu of such investigation, make such inquiry and obtain such information as it deems adequate.

(3) The report of any investigation or inquiry made shall be filed with the application and shall be available at any time for inspection by officials of the Government of Canada.

(4) An investigation required by this section shall be made by an investigator in the employ of the provincial authority or the provincial government or by a duly authorized representative of any other agency if such representative is recommended by the provincial authority and approved by the Minister, and such investigator or representative, as the case may be, shall, in the course of such investigation, personally interview the recipient.

Grant of Allowance

10. (1) No allowance shall be granted or paid until the Minister has certified that the applicant is blind within the meaning of the Act and these regulations.

(2) Where an applicant is certified as blind as provided by section 6 or 7 and is otherwise eligible for an allowance, the provincial authority shall determine the rate thereof and approve the application accordingly; but if the provincial authority is not satisfied that the applicant is blind within the meaning of the Act and these regulations, it may, notwithstanding the certificate, refuse to approve such application but shall, in such event, advise the Minister giving the reasons therefor.

(3) No person other than the provincial authority shall approve or reject any application or alter the rate of allowance.

Age

11. (1) For the purpose of enabling the provincial authority to consider the eligibility of an applicant as regards age, the applicant shall forward to the provincial authority a certificate of birth or of baptism or, if neither certificate is obtainable, shall forward any other documentary evidence that he may have or be able to obtain from which his age may be determined.

(2) If the provincial authority is satisfied that the applicant is unable to furnish or obtain satisfactory evidence as to his age as provided in subsection (1) and the provincial authority itself is unable to obtain such evidence, it shall endeavour to obtain information from other sources and, in the case of an applicant who alleges he was born in Canada, it shall, if records for the period in question are available in the province where he alleges he was born, request the registrar of vital statistics in that province to make a search for information as to his age.

(3) If the provincial authority is unable to obtain information as provided in subsections (1) and (2), it may request the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to make a search of the census records for information as to the age of the applicant, subject to the following conditions:

(a) any request for census information as to age shall be made in the form of an application prescribed by the Dominion Statistician which shall bear or be accompanied by the signed consent of the person concerning whom the information is sought, and shall provide such specific information as may be required for the purpose of making a search in the census records; and

(b) any information supplied by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shall be confidential and shall not be used for any purpose other than that of establishing the age of the applicant as required under the Act, the Old Age Assistance Act, the Disabled Persons Act, or the Old Age Security Act, as the case may be.

(4) If, after thorough search and inquiry, the provincial authority is unable to obtain from the applicant, or elsewhere, satisfactory and sufficient documentary evidence as to his age it may, with the consent of the Director, submit the question of the age of the applicant, together with any documentary or other evidence that it may have obtained relevant thereto, to a tribunal provided for by this section for a decision as to whether or not the applicant has attained the age of twenty-one years.

(5) The tribunal shall consist of a member designated by the provincial authority, a member designated by the Director and a third member, who shall be a disinterested person and who shall act as chairman, chosen by the other two members.

(6) The tribunal shall in all cases see and interview the applicant and, in deciding upon whether the applicant has attained the age of twenty-one years, shall be entitled to take into account any fact, circumstance or evidence, documentary or other, including physical characteristics of the applicant, relevant to the determination of the issue.

(7) The decision of the tribunal shall be the decision of the majority thereof and, subject to rebutting evidence being obtained at any time, any decision reached in accordance with the procedure provided in subsections (4) to (6) shall be final and conclusive of whether or not the applicant has attained the age of twenty-one years.

(8) Except as provided in subsection (7), the provincial authority shall not be bound to accept any evidence respecting the age of a recipient as final and conclusive, and any evidence submitted to or obtained by the provincial authority as proof of age may be rebutted at any time.

12. For the purpose of determining the age of a child of a recipient, regard may be had to the documents or other evidence mentioned or referred to in section 11.

13. For the purpose of determining whether a child of a recipient is prevented from earning a livelihood by reason of physical or mental incapacity, the provincial authority shall be guided by a certificate of a duly qualified medical practitioner.

Marital Status

14. For the purpose of enabling the provincial authority to consider the eligibility of an applicant as regards marital status, the provincial authority may accept a certificate of marriage or, if no such certificate is procurable, such other evidence corroborative of the statement of the applicant or his spouse as it deems satisfactory.

Residence

15. (1) For the purpose of enabling the provincial authority to consider the eligibility of an applicant as regards residence in Canada or in a province, the provincial authority may take into account, together with any other evidence that it may be able to obtain, a statutory declaration made by any reliable and disinterested person covering such facts as to which such person has personal knowledge.

(2) If an applicant, while a resident of Canada, has temporarily absented himself therefrom for the purpose of engaging in and, at the termination of his duties abroad, he returned to Canada, he shall be deemed to have continued to reside or to have been present in Canada during such absence.

(4) An applicant who is a married woman or a widow and, while a resident of Canada, was absent from Canada with her husband while he was absent from Canada in any of the circumstances provided for by subsection (2) or (3), shall, during the period of such absence with him, be deemed to have continued to reside or to have been present in Canada during such absence.

(5) An applicant who, while a resident of Canada and while under the age of twenty-one years, was absent from Canada with his father or mother who was absent therefrom under any of the circumstances provided for in subsections (2) or (3) shall, during the period of such absence with his father or mother, be deemed to have continued to reside or to have been present in Canada.

(6) Where an applicant was temporarily absent from Canada and was unable to return to Canada due to the dislocation of transportation facilities during or immediately following the second world war, such applicant shall be deemed to have continued to reside or to have been present in Canada for the period of absence between the date such applicant, his spouse or his parent, as the case may be, made application to the proper authority for transportation to Canada and the date of the actual return of the applicant thereto.

shall not be included in the calculation of income under subsection (1), and income in such province shall be calculated accordingly.

18. For the purpose of determining the amount that shall be deemed income from any interest in real or personal property of a recipient, or, in the case of a married recipient living with his spouse, of the recipient and his spouse, whether owned or deemed to be owned by the recipient or his spouse at the date of the proposed commencement of the allowance, or acquired subsequent thereto, the provincial authority shall

- (a) as regards real property

- (b) as regards personal property
- (i) of an unmarried recipient or a married recipient not living with his spouse, consider as annual income during the lifetime of the recipient the amount of an Immediate Canadian Government Annuity, Ordinary Life Plan, payable monthly, purchasable with the proceeds of the personal property owned by such recipient and calculated as of the actual age of such recipient;
 - (ii) of a married recipient living with his spouse, subject to subparagraph (iii), consider as annual income during the lifetime of and in respect of each spouse the amount of annuity purchasable with one-half the proceeds of the personal property jointly and severally owned by the recipient and his spouse and calculated as of the actual age of each;
 - (iii) of a married recipient living with his spouse who is or becomes a recipient of assistance under the Old Age Assistance Act, consider as income during the period that the spouse is in receipt of assistance thereunder an amount calculated as provided in paragraph (b) of section 12 of the regulations under that Act and thereafter an amount calculated as provided in subparagraph (i) or (ii) of this paragraph as the case may be on the value of the personal property owned at such time.

19. (1) Where board and lodging or board or lodging is provided free to a recipient or for a nominal amount, the provincial authority shall consider as income of the recipient and, in the case of a recipient who is married and living with his spouse, of the recipient and his spouse, an amount that, in its opinion, is a fair and reasonable charge therefor, but which shall, in no case, be less than the amounts respectively hereinafter set forth—

| | Unmarried Recipient | Married Recipient |
|----------------------|------------------------|----------------------|
| Lodging | $10 monthly | $15 monthly |
| Board | 20 monthly | 30 monthly |
| Board and lodging .. | 30 monthly | 45 monthly |

Transfer of Property

20. (1) Where a recipient or his spouse, has, within the five years preceding the date of application or subsequent to such date, made an assignment or transfer of real or personal property, such recipient shall furnish to the provincial authority full particulars concerning such assignment or transfer.

(2) The provincial authority, from the particulars so furnished, shall determine whether or not the consideration for such assignment or transfer was inadequate or whether such assignment or transfer was made by such recipient or his spouse for the purpose of qualifying the recipient for an allowance or for a larger amount of allowance than he otherwise would be entitled to receive or to prevent recovery of any claim under provincial law.

(3) Where, from the particulars so furnished or in the absence of satisfactory particulars being furnished, the provincial authority is of the opinion that the consideration for an assignment or transfer of property was inadequate or that such assignment or transfer was made by a recipient or his spouse for the purpose of qualifying the recipient for an allowance or for a larger amount of allowance than he otherwise would be entitled to receive or to prevent recovery of any claim under provincial law, the provincial authority shall consider as income from such property an amount calculated as provided in section 18 in the case of property owned by a recipient or his spouse at the date of the proposed commencement of allowance.

21. (1) Where the recipient or his spouse reconverts into real property, personal property derived from the sale of real property held at the time an allowance was granted, the provincial authority may, in lieu of calculating an income of such recipient as provided in paragraph (b) of section 18, the value of the personal property so reconverted, consider as income an amount respecting the newly acquired real property calculated as provided in paragraph (a) thereof.

(2) Where an exchange of property under subsection (1) is not wholly for cash, the face value of any mortgage receivable or agreement for sale and the income therefrom may be offset by the face value of any mortgage payable or agreement for sale and the interest payable thereon, but the provincial authority shall take into account any excess value or income receivable by the recipient.

When Allowance Shall Commence

22. (1) Subject to subsection (2), an allowance shall be payable in arrears from the first day of the month following the month in which the recipient attains the age of twenty-one years or from the first day of the month following the month in which his application is approved, whichever is the later.

(2) Where an application is approved after the last day of the month in which it was received by the provincial authority, and delay in such approval resulted from circumstances wholly beyond the control of the recipient, the provincial authority may, in its discretion, declare that such approval shall be effective as of an earlier date which shall be a date after the recipient attains the age of twenty-one years and which shall in no case be earlier than the date of the receipt of the application by the provincial authority or a date not more than four months prior to that on which approval is given, whichever is the later; provided, however, that in any case where delay in such approval is attributable to the fact that the recipient is resident in a part of Canada that is accessible only at a certain time or times of the year or to delay in the receipt by the provincial authority of the certificate required by subsection (3) of section 6 and section 7, the period of four months herein mentioned may be extended to not more than six months.

(3) No allowance which has been suspended for a period in excess of six months shall be reinstated without first obtaining a certificate under section 6 or 7.

(4) Where an allowance is suspended at the request of a recipient the same shall not be reinstated prior to the date on which the provincial authority is requested in writing by such recipient or by some person acting on behalf of such recipient to do so.

(5) Except in the case of a recipient residing in the Northwest Territories, no recipient shall be paid an allowance for any period exceeding one month during which such recipient receives direct relief out of moneys paid in whole or in part by the Government of Canada.

Manner Payable

23. An allowance shall be paid by cheque or other instrument in a form approved by the province.

Payment to Trustees

24. (1) Where a recipient is incapacitated through infirmity, illness or any other cause, and is unable to look after his own affairs or, if the provincial authority considers that the recipient is using or is likely to use his allowance otherwise than for his own benefit, the provincial authority may pay the allowance to a trustee appointed by it to be expended for the benefit of the recipient.

(2) Any trustee appointed under subsection (1) may be removed by the provincial authority or may resign and the provincial authority may appoint another trustee in his place.

(3) Any trustee appointed under subsection (1) or (2) shall, when required by the provincial authority, make returns showing the amount of the allowance received, the amount that has been expended for the benefit of the recipient and the balance remaining in the hands of the trustee.

(4) Subject to subsection (1), where the trustee appointed under subsection (1) or (2) is an officer or employee of an institution in which a recipient is being maintained, the provincial authority may authorize the trustee to pay to such institution such proportion of the allowance as is considered by the provincial authority to be a reasonable sum for the maintenance of the recipient, but shall require the trustee to make available to the recipient an amount which it considers reasonable for his personal use.

Suspension of Allowance

25. (1) The payment of an allowance shall be suspended

(a) during the absence of a recipient from Canada, but the provincial authority may, if satisfied that the circumstances so justify, pay the allowance for any period of absence not exceeding a total of ninety-two days in the twelve-month period preceding the return of the recipient to Canada,

(b) while a recipient is serving any sentence of imprisonment that exceeds thirty days, provided, that where the sentence of imprisonment exceeds thirty days, the provincial authority may, on the release of the recipient, reinstate the allowance from a date not more than one month prior to the date of release, and

(c) during the period that a recipient neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of the Act and these regulations or to furnish any information that he is required to furnish pursuant thereto.

(2) A provincial authority shall recover from a recipient any sum improperly paid by way of allowance whether such sum was paid as the result of non-disclosure of facts, misrepresentation or any other cause, and, if the provincial authority is unable to recover the whole of such sum, the provincial authority shall suspend the payment of the allowance of such recipient until the aggregate amount of the suspended payments equals the sum improperly paid less any amount that has been recovered prior to such suspension; provided that where the recipient has not been guilty of fraud or misrepresentation the provincial authority, in its discretion, may reduce the allowance by an amount of not less than five dollars each month, so that recovery of such overpayment will be made in full within a period of not more than five years or prior to the recipient reaching the age of seventy years, whichever is the sooner.

Increase or Reduction of Allowance

26. The provincial authority shall require a recipient to report forthwith any increase or reduction in his income or real property or the income or real property of his spouse and to furnish particulars of any personal property acquired by him or his spouse after the date of his application.

27. Any recipient who desires to apply for an increase in the amount of the allowance to which he may be entitled under the Act, shall notify the provincial authority and shall furnish all necessary information.

Accounting

28. Any sums due by Canada to a province in settlement of Canada's share of the net amount expended by the province in payment of allowances shall be ascertained as of the last day of each month, shall be audited by the provincial auditor and shall be paid on the certificate of the provincial auditor as soon thereafter as possible, subject to final audit by officials of the Government of Canada; the accounts submitted by the provincial authority for the purpose of reimbursement shall contain such information as the Minister may require.

29. In calculating the amount due by Canada to a province no account shall be taken of any sums that, under the provisions of the Act, the province is liable to reimburse another province or to be reimbursed by another province in respect of allowances granted therein or in such other province, nor shall any account be taken of the cost of administering or paying allowances.

30. In calculating the amount in respect of which any province is entitled to be reimbursed by another province under the provisions of the Act, regard shall be had only to the net amount of allowances paid by the province to be reimbursed after deducting therefrom the amount payable by Canada on account of such allowances.

31. Balances due by one province to another province under the provisions of the Act shall be settled monthly as of the same date as the sums due by Canada are payable.

32. The amount recovered by a provincial authority from a recipient or from the estate of a deceased recipient in respect of any allowance shall be distributed between the province responsible for payment of the provincial share of the allowance and Canada in accordance with the amount of any such allowance respectively paid by each.

(6) All applications and accompanying documents received by any person other than the provincial authority shall be forwarded to the provincial authority.

Investigation

5. (1) The provincial authority shall, in respect of each application, cause an investigation to be made into the facts and circumstances as therein set out and such other matters as may be necessary to determine the eligibility of the applicant for assistance.

(2) The investigation required by subsection (1) shall be made not sooner than four months before the date of the proposed commencement of assistance but where the person making the application is resident in a part of Canada that is accessible only at a certain time or times of the year the period of four months may be extended by the provincial authority to not more than six months.

(3) Where an application has been approved and assistance is being paid or is suspended for the purpose of recovering an overpayment, the provincial authority shall, at least once in each year, cause an investigation to be made into the circumstances of the recipient to determine whether such recipient continues to be eligible, or whether he has again become eligible, and the amount of assistance to which he may be entitled, and where such annual investigation is made more than three months prior to the transfer of the recipient to old age security, the provincial authority shall make a terminal investigation at the time of such transfer.

(4) Before altering the rate of assistance being paid to a recipient or before suspending assistance or reinstating assistance which has been suspended, the provincial authority shall cause an investigation to be made into the circumstances of the recipient; but the provincial authority, in any individual case, may, in lieu of such investigation, make such inquiry and obtain such information as it deems adequate.

(5) The report of any investigation or inquiry made shall be filed with the application and shall be available at any time for inspection by officials of the Government of Canada.

(6) An investigation required by this section shall be made by an investigator in the employ of the provincial authority or the provincial government or by a duly authorized representative of any other agency if such representative is recommended by the provincial authority and approved by the Minister, and such investigator or representative, as the case may be, shall, in the course of such investigation, personally interview the recipient.

Grant of Assistance

6. (1) Where the provincial authority is satisfied on the basis of the information contained in the application and from the investigation required by these regulations, together with any other relevant information it may have obtained, that the applicant is eligible under the Act and these regulations to receive assistance, it shall determine the rate of assistance payable and shall thereupon approve the application accordingly.

(2) No person other than the provincial authority shall approve or reject any application or alter the rate of assistance.

Age

7. (1) For the purpose of enabling the provincial authority to consider the eligibility of an applicant as regards age, the applicant shall forward to the provincial authority a certificate of birth or of baptism or, if neither certificate is obtainable, shall forward any other documentary evidence that he may have or be able to obtain from which his age may be determined.

(2) If the provincial authority is satisfied that the applicant is unable to furnish or obtain satisfactory evidence as to his age as provided in subsection (1) and the provincial authority itself is unable to obtain such evidence, it shall endeavour to obtain information from other sources and, in the case of an applicant who alleges he was born in Canada, it shall, if records for the period in question are available in the province where he alleges he was born, request the registrar of vital statistics in that province to make a search for information as to his age.

(3) If the provincial authority is unable to obtain information as provided in subsections (1) and (2), it may request the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to make a search of the census records for information as to the age of the applicant, subject to the following conditions:

- (a) any request for census information as to age shall be made in the form of an application prescribed by the Dominion Statistician which shall bear or be accompanied by the signed consent of the person concerning whom the information is sought, and shall provide such specific information as may be required for the purpose of making a search in the census records; and
- (b) any information supplied by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shall be confidential and shall not be used for any purpose other than that of establishing the age of the applicant

as required under the Act, the Blind Persons Act, the Disabled Persons Act, or the Old Age Security Act, as the case may be.

(4) If, after thorough search and inquiry, the provincial authority is unable to obtain from the applicant, or elsewhere, satisfactory and sufficient documentary evidence as to his age it may, with the consent of the Director, submit the question of the age of the applicant, together with any documentary or other evidence that it may have obtained relevant thereto, to a tribunal provided for by this section for a decision as to whether or not the applicant has attained the age of sixty-five years.

(5) The tribunal shall consist of a member designated by the provincial authority, a member designated by the Director and a third member, who shall be a disinterested person and who shall act as chairman, chosen by the other two members.

(6) The tribunal shall in all cases see and interview the applicant and, in deciding upon whether the applicant has attained the age of sixty-five years, shall be entitled to take into account any fact, circumstance or evidence, documentary or other, including physical characteristics of the applicant, relevant to the determination of the issue.

(7) The decision of the tribunal shall be the decision of the majority thereof and, subject to rebutting evidence being obtained at any time, any decision reached in accordance with the procedure provided in subsections (4) to (6) shall be final and conclusive of whether or not the applicant has attained the age of sixty-five years.

(8) Except as provided in subsection (7), the provincial authority shall not be bound to accept any evidence respecting the age of a recipient as final and conclusive, and any evidence submitted to or obtained by the provincial authority as proof of age may be rebutted at any time.

Marital Status

Residence

9. (1) For the purpose of enabling the provincial authority to consider the eligibility of an applicant as regards residence in Canada or in a province, the provincial authority may take into account, together with any other evidence that it may be able to obtain, a statutory declaration made by any reliable and disinterested person covering such facts as to which such person has personal knowledge.

(2) For the purposes of the Act and these regulations, residence and presence in Newfoundland prior to the date of union of Newfoundland with Canada, shall respectively be deemed to be residence and presence in Canada.

10. (1) Intervals of absence of an applicant from Canada during the twenty years immediately preceding the date of the proposed commencement of assistance which are of a temporary nature and which, when totalled and averaged, do not exceed sixty days a year, shall be deemed not to have interrupted the residence in Canada of such applicant during such period, and the provisions of this subsection shall not apply in respect of cases coming within the provisions of subsections (2) to (6) both inclusive.

(2) If an applicant, while a resident of Canada, has temporarily absented himself therefrom for the purpose of engaging in

- (a) employment on a ship or on a fishing boat, and, at the termination of such employment, he returned to Canada, he shall be deemed to have continued to reside or to have been present in Canada during such absence if, during the period thereof, he had in Canada a permanent place of abode to which, whenever he was absent therefrom, he had the intention of returning, or he maintained in Canada, a self-contained domestic establishment.

(3) If an applicant, while a resident of Canada, has temporarily absented himself therefrom

- (a) while he was employed and paid by the Government of Canada or any province,
- (b) during the first or second world war while he was a member of the forces of any country allied with Canada or was engaged in work in connection with the prosecution of any such war for Canada or its allies, or
- (c) pursuant to or in connection with the requirements of his duties as a member of the armed forces of Canada, and, at the termination of his duties abroad, he returned to Canada, he shall be deemed to have continued to reside or to have been present in Canada during such absence.

(4) An applicant who is a married woman or a widow and, while a resident of Canada, was absent from Canada with her husband while he was absent from Canada in any of the circumstances provided for by subsection (2) or (3), shall, during the period of such absence with him, be deemed to have continued to reside or to have been present in Canada during such absence.

(5) An applicant who, while a resident of Canada and while under the age of twenty-one years, was absent from Canada with his father or mother who was absent therefrom under any of the circumstances provided for in subsections (2) or (3) shall, during the period of such absence with his father or mother, be deemed to have continued to reside or to have been present in Canada.

(6) Where an applicant was temporarily absent from Canada and was unable to return to Canada due to the dislocation of transportation facilities during or immediately following the second world war, such applicant shall be deemed to have continued to reside or to have been present in Canada for the period of absence between the date such applicant, his spouse or his parent, as the case may be, made application to the proper authority for transportation to Canada and the date of the actual return of the applicant thereto.

Income

11. (1) For the purpose of the Act and these regulations, "income" includes the net amount or value of all income, gratuities and contributions received, whether in cash or in kind, and without restricting the generality of the foregoing,

- (a) any assistance paid under the Act;

- (f) the value of board and lodging, or board or lodging furnished free of charge, or for which a nominal charge is made, as determined under section 13.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), an agreement with a province under section 3 of the Act may, at the request of such province, provide that all or any of the following, namely,

- (a) mothers' allowances paid pursuant to provincial legislation;

- (b) family allowances paid pursuant to the Family Allowances Act;

- (c) cost of living allowances or supplemental allowances paid by any province to any person in receipt of assistance under the Act or an allowance under the Blind Persons Act or an allowance under the Disabled Persons Act or a pension under the Old Age Security Act;

- (d) pay allotted or assigned by a member of the Canadian Forces serving on active service, where no dependents allowance has been awarded in respect of the recipient or the spouse of such recipient;

- (e) direct relief in an amount considered reasonable by the provincial authority if paid out of moneys provided only by the municipality or the province in which the recipient resides, or by both, or by a charitable organization incorporated or registered under a law of a province or of the Parliament of Canada;

- (f) Casual gifts of small value;

- (g) contributions other than for ordinary maintenance to recipients or to the spouses of recipients who require special care;

- (h) any amount considered reasonable by the provincial authority received by a spouse who is blind within the meaning of the Blind Persons Act for the purpose of obtaining the services of a guide; and

- (i) the income value determined as provided in section 12 from an amount up to five hundred dollars of the amount of the cash surrender value of life insurance that is available to a recipient or his spouse, shall not be included in the calculation of income under subsection (1), and income in such province shall be calculated accordingly.

12. For the purpose of determining the amount that shall be deemed income from any interest in real or personal property of a recipient, or, in the case of a married recipient living with his spouse, of the recipient and his spouse, whether owned or deemed to be owned by the recipient or his spouse at the date of the proposed commencement of assistance, or acquired subsequent thereto, the provincial authority shall

- (a) as regards real property

- (i) that is used as a residence by the recipient and from which no revenue is derived, consider as income an amount equal to five per cent of the market value of such property after deducting therefrom the amount of any encumbrances thereon, or five per cent of the assessed value, or an amount that in the opinion of the provincial authority is reasonably equivalent to the rental value thereof; and in determining such rental value the provincial authority may in its discretion deduct the cost of the maintenance of such property which shall not include the cost of heating, lighting, communications, structural alterations other than those attributable to wear and tear, or any payment of principal on a mortgage or agreement for sale thereon;

- (ii) that is used as a residence by the recipient and from which the recipient derives a revenue from any use or occupation thereof, consider as income the net revenue so derived (provided that where such revenue is derived from the rental of rooms, not less than fifty per cent thereof shall be deemed to be net revenue) together with an amount equal to five per cent of the market value of such property after deducting therefrom the amount of any encumbrances thereon, or five per cent of the assessed value, or an amount that in the opinion of the provincial authority is reasonably equivalent to the rental value of the portion thereof occupied by the recipient; and in determining such rental value the provincial authority may in its discretion deduct the cost of the maintenance of such property which shall not include the cost of heating, lighting, communications, structural alterations other than those attributable to wear and tear, or any payment of principal on a mortgage or agreement for sale thereon;

(iii) that is revenue bearing and is not used as a residence by the recipient, consider as income the net revenue therefrom after deducting reasonable and necessary expenses of maintenance other than any payment of principal on any mortgage or agreement for sale thereon;

(iv) that is not revenue bearing or from which a nominal revenue is derived and is not used as a residence by the recipient, consider as income the net revenue that, in the opinion of the provincial authority, such property should or might reasonably be expected to yield;

(b) as regards personal property, deduct from the amount of value thereof owned at the date of the proposed commencement of assistance the sum of one thousand dollars in the case of an unmarried recipient and the sum of two thousand dollars in the case of a married recipient living with his spouse (or such amount less than one thousand dollars or two thousand dollars, respectively, as may be provided by a province in its agreement under section 3 of the Act) and subject to subparagraphs (iv) and (v), consider as income during the period that the recipient is or may be entitled to receive assistance an amount calculated as follows:

(i) in the case of an unmarried recipient, divide the remaining balance on a monthly basis over the period between the date of the proposed commencement of assistance and the date on which the recipient attains the age of seventy years;

(ii) in the case of a married recipient living with his spouse, divide the remaining balance on a monthly basis over the period between the proposed commencement of assistance and the date on which the younger of the two spouses attains the age of seventy years, or over a period of sixty months, whichever is the lesser period;

(iii) where additional personal property is acquired after the date of application, there shall be deemed to be additional income therefrom from the date of such acquisition an amount to be arrived at by dividing the value thereof on a monthly basis over the period between the date of acquisition and, in the case of an unmarried recipient, the date on which he attains the age of seventy years, and in the case of a married recipient living with his spouse, the date on which the younger of the two spouses attains the age of seventy years, or over a period of sixty months, whichever is the lesser period;

(iv) in the case of a married recipient living with his spouse, where the spouse subsequently becomes a recipient, income under this subparagraph shall be re-determined as provided in subparagraphs (ii) and (iii);

(v) in the case of a married recipient living with his spouse, where the spouse dies, the income of the recipient shall be recalculated as for an unmarried recipient on the amount of personal property owned by the recipient at the date of death but such calculation shall be based on the age of the recipient at that time and not as of the date of the proposed commencement of assistance.

13. (1) Where board and lodging or board or lodging is provided free to a recipient or for a nominal amount, the provincial authority shall consider as income of the recipient, and, in the case of a recipient who is married and living with his spouse, of the recipient and his spouse, an amount that, in its opinion, is a fair and reasonable charge therefor, but which shall, in no case, be less than the amounts respectively hereinafter set forth—

| | Unmarried Recipient | Married Recipient |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------|------------------------------|
| Lodging | $10 monthly | $15 monthly |
| Board | 20 monthly | 30 monthly |
| Board and lodging | 30 monthly | 45 monthly |

(2) Where board and lodging or board or lodging is provided to the recipient for a nominal amount, the provincial authority, in fixing an amount as provided in subsection (1), may deduct therefrom such nominal amount if satisfied that the recipient is actually paying the same.

Transfer of Property

14. (1) Where a recipient or his spouse has, within the five years preceding the date of application or subsequent to such date, made an assignment or transfer of real or personal property, such recipient shall furnish to the provincial authority full particulars concerning such assignment or transfer.

(2) The provincial authority, from the particulars so furnished, shall determine whether or not the consideration for such assignment or transfer was inadequate or whether such assignment or transfer was made by such recipient or his spouse for the purpose of qualifying the recipient for assistance or for a larger amount of assistance than he otherwise would be entitled to receive or to prevent recovery of any claim under provincial law.

(3) Where, from the particulars so furnished or in the absence of satisfactory particulars being furnished, the provincial authority is of the opinion that the consideration for an assignment or transfer of property was inadequate or that such assignment or transfer was made by a recipient or his spouse for the purpose of qualifying the recipient for assistance or for a larger amount of assistance than he otherwise would be entitled to receive or to prevent recovery of any claim under provincial law, the provincial authority shall consider as income from such property an amount calculated as provided in section 12 in the case of property owned by a recipient or his spouse at the date of the proposed commencement of assistance.

15. (1) Where the recipient or his spouse re-converts into real property, personal property derived from the sale of real property held at the time assistance was granted, the provincial authority may, in lieu of calculating as income of such recipient as provided in paragraph (b) of section 12, the value of the personal property so re-converted, consider as income an amount respecting the newly acquired real property calculated as provided in paragraph (a) thereof.

(2) Where an exchange of property under subsection (1) is not wholly for cash, the face value of any mortgage receivable or agreement for sale and the income therefrom may be offset by the face value of any mortgage payable or agreement for sale and the interest payable thereon, but the provincial authority shall take into account any excess value or income receivable by the recipient.

When Assistance Shall Commence

16. (1) Subject to subsection (2), assistance shall be payable in arrears from the first day of the month following the month in which the recipient attains the age of sixty-five years or from the first day of the month following the month in which his application is approved, whichever is the later.

(2) Where an application is approved after the last day of the month in which it was received by the provincial authority, and delay in such approval resulted from circumstances wholly beyond the control of the recipient, the provincial authority may, in its discretion, declare that such approval shall be effective as of an earlier date which shall be a date after the recipient attains the age of sixty-five years and which shall in no case be earlier than the date of the receipt of the application by the provincial authority or a date not more than four months prior to that on which approval is given, whichever is the later; provided, however, that in any case where delay in such approval is attributable to the fact that the recipient is resident in a part of Canada that is accessible only at a certain time or times of the year, the period of four months herein mentioned may be extended to not more than six months.

(3) Where assistance is suspended at the request of a recipient the same shall not be reinstated prior to the date on which the provincial authority is requested in writing by such recipient or by some person acting on behalf of such recipient to do so.

(4) Except in the case of a recipient residing in the Northwest Territories, no recipient shall be paid assistance for any period exceeding one month during which such recipient receives direct relief out of moneys paid in whole or in part by the Government of Canada.

Manner Payable

17. Assistance shall be paid by cheque or other instrument in a form approved by the province.

Payment to Trustees

18. (1) Where a recipient is incapacitated through infirmity, illness or any other cause, and is unable to look after his own affairs, or, if the provincial authority considers that the recipient is using or is likely to use his assistance otherwise than for his own benefit, the provincial authority may pay the assistance to a trustee appointed by it to be expended for the benefit of the recipient.

(2) Any trustee appointed under subsection (1) may be removed by the provincial authority or may resign and the provincial authority may appoint another trustee in his place.

(3) Any trustee appointed under subsection (1) or (2) shall, when required by the provincial authority, make returns showing the amount of the assistance received, the amount that has been expended for the benefit of the recipient and the balance remaining in the hands of the trustee.

(4) Subject to subsection (1), where the trustee appointed under subsection (1) or (2) is an officer or employee of an institution in which a recipient is being maintained, the provincial authority may authorize the trustee to pay to such institution such proportion of the assistance as is considered by the provincial authority to be a reasonable sum for the maintenance of the recipient, but shall require the trustee to make available to the recipient an amount which it considers reasonable for his personal use.

Suspension of Assistance

19. (1) The payment of assistance shall be suspended

(a) during the absence of a recipient from Canada, but the provincial authority may, if satisfied that the circumstances so justify, pay the assistance for any period of absence not exceeding a total of ninety-two days in the twelve-month period preceding the return of the recipient to Canada,

(b) while a recipient is serving any sentence of imprisonment that exceeds thirty days, provided, that where the sentence of imprisonment exceeds thirty days, the provincial authority may, on the release of the recipient, reinstate the assistance from a date not more than one month prior to the date of release, and

(c) during the period that a recipient neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of the Act and these regulations or to furnish any information that he is required to furnish pursuant thereto.

(2) A provincial authority shall recover from a recipient any sum improperly paid by way of assistance whether such sum was paid as the result of non-disclosure of facts, misrepresentation or any other cause, and, if the provincial authority is unable to recover the whole of such sum, the provincial authority shall suspend the payment of the assistance of such recipient until the aggregate amount of the suspended payments equals the sum improperly paid less any amount that has been recovered prior to such suspension; provided that where the recipient has not been guilty of fraud or misrepresentation the provincial authority, in its discretion, may reduce the assistance by an amount of not less than five dollars each month, so that recovery of such overpayment will be made in full prior to the date on which the recipient attains the age of seventy years.

Increase or Reduction of Assistance

20. The provincial authority shall require a recipient to report forthwith any increase or reduction in his income or real property or the income or real property of his spouse and to furnish particulars of any personal property acquired by him or his spouse after the date of his application.

21. Any recipient who desires to apply for an increase in the amount of assistance to which he may be entitled under the Act, shall notify the provincial authority and shall furnish all necessary information.

Accounting

22. Any sums due by Canada to a province in settlement of Canada's share of the net amount expended by the province in payment of assistance shall be ascertained as of the last day of each month, shall be audited by the provincial auditor and shall be paid on the certificate of the provincial auditor as soon thereafter as possible, subject to final audit by officials of the Government of Canada; the accounts submitted by the provincial authority for the purpose of reimbursement shall contain such information as the Minister may require.

23. In calculating the amount due by Canada to a province no account shall be taken of any sums that, under the provisions of the Act, the province is liable to reimburse another province or to be reimbursed by another province in respect of assistance granted therein or in such other province, nor shall any account be taken of the cost of administering or paying assistance.

24. In calculating the amount in respect of which any province is entitled to be reimbursed by another province under the provisions of the Act, regard shall be had only to the net amount of the assistance paid by the province to be reimbursed after deducting therefrom the amount payable by Canada on account of such assistance.

25. Balances due by one province to another province under the provisions of the Act shall be settled monthly as of the same date as the sums due by Canada are payable.

26. The amount recovered by a provincial authority from a recipient or from the estate of a deceased recipient in respect of any assistance shall be distributed between the province responsible for payment of the provincial share of the assistance and Canada in accordance with the amount of any such assistance respectively paid by each.
